NABE's vision is to "unite and inspire bar executives in promotion of excellence in bar association management." The association fulfills its mission of promoting and supporting excellence and professionalism among bar executives through educational programming and activities that support their effective fulfillment of members' job responsibilities. NABE is a not-for-profit organization, incorporated in 1990. Although it is not an affiliate of the American Bar Association, the ABA has provided NABE with secretariat services. since 1953. These services are provided through the Division for Bar Services and were formalized in 1983. IILACE members are encouraged to register for the 2001 NABE Meeting so that they can take part of their

Its long-term goals are

- to become involved in the promotion and study of matters of importance to legal professional associations on a global basis;
- to undertake collection of data of comparative interest to law associations; and
- to promote the use of technology to facilitate communications amongst its members.

the legal profession. What should associations say and do on technology and ethics?

ETHICS

All lawyers who practice law should do so competently. IILACE members discuss the best ways to assure competency within the profession.

WTO & LAW ASSOCIATIONS

Japan, USA, Canada and other countries have filed their proposals on how the WTO should conduct its negotiations for legal services. How is your country doing on WTO Talks?
